

FEATURES

The Future of Medicine: A New Era for Alzheimer's

By Josh Fischman

The Human Toll of Alzheimer's 🔑

By Joel Shurkin

Five Types of Research, Underexplored until Recently, Could Produce Alzheimer's Treatments 🔑

By Kenneth S. Kosik

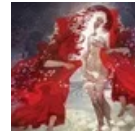

A Harder Look at Alzheimer's Causes and Treatments

By Tanya Lewis

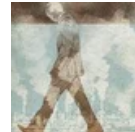

Menopause Predisposes a Fifth of Women to Alzheimer's 🔑

By Jena Pincott

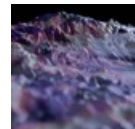

The New Alzheimer's–Air Pollution Link 🔑

By Ellen Ruppel Shell

Giant Volcano Rewrites the Story of Seafloor Formation

By William W. Sager

How 'Sustainable' Development Ravaged the Congo Basin

By Jerome Lewis

Quantum Steampunk: 19th-Century Science Meets Technology of Today 🔑

By Nicole Yunger Halpern

DEPARTMENTS

FROM THE EDITOR

Diseases and Deadlines

LETTERS

Readers Respond to the January 2020 Issue 🔑

ADVANCES

Machine That Keeps Livers Alive for a Week Can Repair Damaged Organs

New Model Predicts Sudden Rogue Waves 🔑

Countdown to Commercial Crew 🔑

Pumping Charged Particles onto Airplane Surfaces Could Reduce Lightning Strikes 🔑

Parasites Thrive in Lizard Embryos' Brain 🔑

Smell Receptors Activate Ant Aggression 🔑

Deltas Gain Ground--But the Trend Won't Last 🔑

Shorebird Learns Long Migration Routes 🔑

DIY Tool Lets High Schoolers Practice Gene Editing 🔑

In Case You Missed It 🔑

FORUM

Satellites Endanger Pristine Views of the Night Sky

THE SCIENCE OF HEALTH

The Morally Complex Mix of Euthanasia and Organ Donation

THE SCIENCE AGENDA

Facial-Recognition Technology Needs More Regulation

RECOMMENDED

Recommended Books, May 2020

ANTI GRAVITY

Flat Earthers Are Flat Wrong

50, 100 & 150 YEARS AGO

50, 100 & 150 Years Ago: May 2020

GRAPHIC SCIENCE

Satellites in Low Orbits Are Taking over the Skies

METER

The Boulders of Lyell Canyon

OBSERVATORY

Funding Cuts Threaten to Hobble American Science

VENTURES

When Will Speech-Recognition Software Finally Be Good Enough?

